Recent N-DEx Success Story

N-DEx record from an NCIS LInX search identifies a homicide suspect

- The Charlotte-Mecklenburg Police Department (PD) in North Carolina, was investigating a drug related homicide, and believed the suspect and the victim knew each other. The only information they had on the suspect was a phone number they obtained from the victim's cell phone, as the victim was talking to the suspect just before the homicide. PD staff searched the phone number in several databases without success. Finally, they ran the number in the Naval Criminal Investigative Service (NCIS) Law Enforcement Information Exchange (LInX) System and received a hit from the LInX System's access to the Federal Bureau of Investigation’s (FBI's) National Data Exchange (N-DEx) System. The N-DEx System record included a name and address related to an effort by the United States Marshals Service (USMS) to locate the suspect on an unrelated warrant. With the information from the USMS report, they were able to obtain a photograph and subsequent positive identification of the suspect. The suspect was arrested for murder and robbery and the case was closed.
